FOREWORD

Although court reorganization had its beginnings in North Carolina more than a decade ago, 1971 marks the first year in which both trial divisions of the General Court of Justice have operated throughout the State. During the years of transition since 1966, it has been difficult to generalize about the state of the courts' dockets since the number of counties within the system was changing and as new counties were phased in the dockets reflected an expected period of adjustment. In 1972, it will be possible for the first time to compare all 100 counties without the skewing effects of transition and adjustment.

This year it is possible to make meaningful comparisons with respect to the 83 counties where the new system was fully operational in the calendar years 1969, 1970 and 1971. Accordingly, most of the year to year comparisons in the narrative portion of this report are based upon the 83 counties where the court structure was constant throughout the period of comparison. Although each of the tables in this report includes case flow data from all 100 counties, the totals are reported separately for the 83 counties which have been within the system for three years and the 17 counties that entered the system on December 7, 1970. The former counties are referred to as "Group I" and the latter counties are referred to as "Group II."

The variables that produce an "acceptable" or "unacceptable" condition of the dockets in any judicial district are multiple and differ widely from county to county. Responsible officials in each county and judicial district must analyze the data contained herein and measure their court's performance against what appears to be the statewide trend:

- The number of criminal cases pending in the superior court is increasing at an alarming rate. In "Group I" counties, the number pending increased from 9,179 on December 31, 1969, to 15,586 on December 31, 1971, an increase of 69.8% within a two year period.

- Although the state of the civil dockets of the superior court is improving, the situation cannot be viewed as satisfactory. At the end of 1971, there were more cases pending than were disposed of during the year.

- The district court appears to be keeping reasonably abreast of both its criminal and civil dockets.

It should be remembered that most of the statistics contained herein are case flow statistics and that none are delay statistics. A case which is pending may be two days old or two years old. Nevertheless, a large number of cases pending in relation to either total filings or total dispositions would necessarily indicate a delay problem.

The statistical data in this report has been supplied to the Administrative Office by clerks of the superior court and chief district court judges. Their cooperation is gratefully acknowledged.

NORTH CAROLINA JUDICIAL DIVISIONS AND DISTRICTS

The State is divided into four judicial divisions and thirty judicial districts. Regular superior court judges are rotated from district to district of the division in which they reside. District court judges are rotated from county to county in the district in which they reside.

THE APPELLATE DIVISION

The number of opinions filed by the Supreme Court in 1971 was almost double the number filed in 1970, increasing from 109 to 211. Full opinions were written in 204 cases and 7 opinions were per curiam. Of the total, 132 were criminal and 79 were civil cases. Seventy-four percent (98 opinions) of the criminal appeals were affirmed and 53% (42 opinions) of the civil appeals were affirmed. In the remaining cases the Supreme Court modified the decision from which the appeal was taken. As reported in the North Carolina Reports, the court disposed of 143 petitions for certiorari, 13 motions to dismiss and 1 motion to rehear.

On October 20, 1971, the Supreme Court suspended its general referral order of July, 1970, which required direct transfer without consideration by the Court of Appeals of civil actions involving a governmental unit and criminal actions involving offenses for which the maximum punishment exceeds ten years. The court observed that the order would remain suspended until "the work load of this Court and of the Court of Appeals requires further action pursuant to G.S. 7A-31(b)(4)."

The number of opinions filed by the Court of Appeals has increased annually. Three hundred and ninety-two opinions were filed in 1968, 536 in 1969, 594 in 1970, and 605 in 1971. The court determined and disposed of 238 motions and 355 petitions in 1971. In 1971, 125 cases docketed in the Court of Appeals were transferred to the Supreme Court pursuant to the order referred to above.

THE SUPERIOR COURT DIVISION

While the state of the civil dockets in the superior court has improved over 1970, the condition of the criminal dockets has worsened. In the 83 counties where the district court was in operation in both 1970 and 1971 the number of criminal cases pending at the end of the year increased by 28.3% and the number of civil cases decreased by 9.8%.

Although the congestion in the criminal dockets has received considerable notice, the improving state of the civil dockets should not obscure the fact that there is also room for much improvement in the disposition of civil cases. This need is evidenced by the fact that there were more civil cases pending at the end of 1971 (12,239) than were disposed of during the year (10,064). In the 83 counties where the district court has been in operation for the last three years, the number of civil cases pending at years end exceeded the number of dispositions in both 1970 and 1971. This situation should be closely watched and should not be accepted as "normal". At a minimum, the number of cases pending at the end of the year should be reduced to a number equal to or below the number of cases disposed of during that year. This conservative goal would still leave approximately one year's work on the civil dockets of the superior court.

In the 83 counties, an examination of the combined civil and criminal dockets reveals that filings increased by 8%, dispositions increased by 12.1%, and the number of cases pending at the end of the year increased by 9.5%.

In all 100 counties, superior court was scheduled for 149 fewer days than in 1970, but there was an increase of 89 days in the number actually held. The percentage of court utilization increased from 80.3% to 82.6%.

1/1/69-12/31/69	9,061½	7,118	78.5
1/1/70-12/31/70	8,940½	7,178½	80.3
1/1/71-12/31/71	8,792	7,266½	82.6

SUPERIOR COURT CIVIL DOCKETS

In the 83 counties where the district court was in operation in both 1970 and 1971, civil filings in the superior court decreased from 7,124 to 6,968 or 2.2%, dispositions increased from 6,715 to 8,133 or 21.1%, and the number of cases pending at the end of the year decreased from 11,836 to 10,671 or 9.8%.

The number of days of court held in the 83 counties decreased from 2,406 in 1970 to 2,239 in 1971, a decrease of 6.9%. The percentage of court utilization increased from 72.8% to 76.4%.

Among all 100 counties, the 10 counties with the largest civil dockets accounted for 47.3% of the total pending cases. Sixty-seven counties had 100 or fewer cases pending and only 4 counties had more than 500 cases pending.

The impact of the civil jurisdiction of the district court on the civil dockets of the superior court continues to be evident. The above statistics would have been even more encouraging had the new 17 counties been included in the comparisons, e.g., among all 100 counties filings dropped from 13,589 to 8,251, a decrease of 39.3%.

It is evident that the district court has considerably reduced the volume of civil filings in the superior court and that no trend is apparent indicating increased filings in the superior court. The reduced level of civil activity in the superior court should provide an opportunity for further reduction of the number of civil cases pending and greater concentration on the criminal dockets of that court.

SUPERIOR COURT CRIMINAL DOCKETS

In this report last year, concern was expressed about the state of the superior court criminal dockets. It was observed that in years prior to 1970 the court had been able to dispose of approximately the same number of cases that were added to its docket, with only minor increases in the number of cases pending at the end of the year. It was concluded that the 1970 statistics indicated a reversal of this trend. The 1971 statistics bear out this analysis, since dispositions again fell well below filings.

In the 83 counties where the district court was in operation in both 1970 and 1971, 32,212 cases were filed in 1971 but the court was able to dispose of only 28,772. Consequently, the number of cases pending at the end of the year increased from 12,146 in 1970 to 15,586 in 1971. As compared to 1970, filings increased by 10.5%, dispositions increased by 9.9% and the number of cases pending at the end of the year increased by 28.3%. The number of days of court held in these counties increased from 3,564 to 3,844 or 7.9%. The percentage of court utilization increased from 86.4% to 88.4%.

The percentage increases between 1969 and 1970 and 1970 and 1971 are strikingly similar. In 1970, filings increased by 12.3% and in 1971 by 10.5%; dispositions in 1970 increased by 1.5% and in 1971 by 9.9% (approximately 30 additional assistant solicitors were at work during the last several months of the year); in 1970, the number pending at the end of the year increased by 32.3% and in 1971 by 28.3%. The rate of disposition (the percentage of filings which were disposed of) in 1969 was 99.4%, in 1970 it was 89.8% and in 1971, 89.3%.

It is apparent that one of two things must occur in order to curb the large increases in the numbers of cases pending at the end of the year: there must be a stabilization or reduction in the number of filings with dispositions remaining constant or there must be a significant increase in dispositions. The former is unlikely to occur, so attention must be devoted to the latter. Assuming that filings increase by another 10% in 1972, dispositions must increase by at least 23.1% in order to prevent a further increase in the number of cases pending. To achieve this, a disposition rate of 100% would be required. However, if dispositions in 1972 increase by only 10% and filings again increase by 10%, the number of cases pending at the end of 1972 will increase by approximately 25%. Under these conditions, the disposition rate would remain at 89.3%.

Among all 100 counties, the 10 counties with the largest criminal dockets accounted for 41.2% of the total cases pending at the end of the year. Fifty-four counties had 100 or fewer cases pending and 11 counties had more than 500 cases pending. In 1970, only 7 counties had more than 500 cases pending.

The conclusions drawn from an analysis of the data from the entire State cannot be applied indiscriminately to any particular county. The state of the criminal dockets is dependent upon a number of variables that may differ widely from county to county. Counties may be ranked or compared on the basis of a number of indicators, e.g., the actual number of filings or the percentage increase in filings; the actual number of dispositions or the percentage increase in dispositions; and the actual number of cases pending at the end of the year or the percentage increase in the number of cases pending at the end of the year. The two charts at the end of this section make the latter comparisons.

In the order named, Wake, Mecklenburg, Guilford, Forsyth and New Hanover had the largest number of cases filed in 1971. Among the counties that exceeded the statewide average for filings, the following counties had the largest percentage increases in filings between 1970 and 1971: Cleveland (144.7%), Durham (56.3%), New Hanover (55.1%), Gaston (49.5%), and Wake (48.7%).

Mecklenburg disposed of the most cases in 1971, followed in order by Wake, Guilford, Iredell and Cumberland. Among the counties that exceeded the statewide average for dispositions, the following counties made the most significant increases over 1970: Craven (158.4%), Randolph (141.0%), Pitt (107.1%), Rowan (81.3%), and Iredell (57.6%). In three of these counties, the district court was in its first year of operation.

The largest number of jury trials, 370, was held in Mecklenburg in 1971; Wake held 174, Pitt held 119, Cumberland held 113, and Robeson held 110. As would be expected, Mecklenburg led the State in the number of days of criminal court held (444), followed by Wake (309), Guilford (209), Cumberland (181), and Buncombe (177).

THE DISTRICT COURT DIVISION

1971 marks the first year in which the district court system has operated in all 100 counties for an entire year. It has been operational in 22 counties for 5 years and in 61 counties for 3 years. The system is now reaching maturity, and most of the statistical measures indicate that this high-volume court is keeping reasonably abreast of its dockets. Both civil and criminal dispositions increased over 1970 and there was a reduction in the number of civil and criminal cases pending at the end of 1971 as compared to 1970.

The number of days of civil court held in the 83 counties increased from 5,885 in 1970 to 6,375 in 1971, or 8.3%. The number of days of criminal court held was almost identical, 10,670 in 1970 and 10,668 in 1971. District court judges were assigned to hold court out of their own districts for 178 days in 1971. In 1970, judges held 237 days of court in judicial districts other than their own.

This is the first year that separate statistics have been compiled on juvenile cases in the district courts. The tables found on pages 61 and 69 are a departure from the case flow statistics which appear elsewhere in this report. Since the volume of juvenile cases is not great and as a matter of law cases are required to be disposed of speedily, the need for a measure of "ins and outs" in an effort to examine "backlogs" was not essential. Instead, the first table presents a picture of the numbers and types of offenses and conditions alleged to have been committed by or to have existed among juveniles during the year. The second table indicates the number and types of adjudicatory hearings held by the court during the year and whether or not the hearing resulted in further action being taken by the court.

DISTRICT COURT CIVIL DOCKETS

In the 83 counties where the district court was in operation in both 1970 and 1971, filings decreased by 3.7%, dispositions increased by 1.9% and the number of cases pending at the end of the year decreased by 1.8%. These comparisons are not entirely valid since in 1970 juvenile cases were counted as civil cases and in 1971 they are reported separately. Had juvenile cases been included in the civil tabulations, there would have been a small increase in the number of filings and a larger increase in the number of dispositions.

Among all 100 counties, the 10 counties with the largest civil dockets accounted for 44.1% of the total civil cases pending. In the 83 counties, 45 counties had 300 or fewer cases pending at the end of the year and only 9 counties had more than 1,000 cases pending. The rate of disposition for all 100 counties was 99.9% and many counties were able to dispose of more cases than were filed.

Small claims continue to account for more than one-half of the civil filings. Of the 134,837 cases filed in all 100 counties in 1971, 62% were small claims, 14.3% were domestic matters, and 23.7% were regular civil actions in which a hearing before a district court judge was requested. Of the 134,583 cases which were disposed of, 21.5% were handled by a judge without a jury, a jury was impaneled in 2.3% of the cases, magistrates disposed of 58.8%, and the remaining 17.4% were disposed of by other means.

It is interesting to compare the civil dockets of the district and superior courts. Juries were impaneled in 857 superior court cases and in 3,025 district court cases. Superior Court judges disposed of 3,814 cases without a jury and district court judges disposed of 28,912 such cases. These figures clearly indicate the role of the district court in reducing the activity on the civil side of superior court.

DISTRICT COURT CRIMINAL DOCKETS

In the 83 counties where the court was operating in 1970 and 1971, filings increased by 1.2%, dispositions increased by 4.1% and the number of cases pending at the end of the year decreased by 10%.

Among all 100 counties, the 10 counties with the largest criminal dockets accounted for 51.2% of the total number of criminal cases pending. In the 83 counties in both 1970 and 1971, 38 counties had 300 or fewer cases pending. The number of counties with 1,000 or more cases pending dropped from 18 in 1970 to 16 in 1971. The rate of disposition for all 100 counties was 100.4%.

The percentage breakdown for the types of cases handled and the manner of disposition is little changed from 1970. In 1971, 63.1% (593,132) of all criminal cases filed were for violations of the traffic laws. Other criminal offenses (346,835) made up the remaining 36.9%. Only 11.4% of the cases disposed of were contested, requiring a full-fledged trial before a district court judge. A judge or magistrate disposed of 30.1% upon a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, and 41.3% were disposed of by a written appearance waiving trial and pleading guilty before a magistrate or clerk. Preliminary hearings constituted only 1.8% of the criminal docket and the remaining 15.4% of total dispositions were terminated by other means. Approximately 65% of all motor vehicle filings were disposed of by waiver.

It is instructive to compare the state of the district and superior court criminal dockets. Assuming that both courts maintained the level of dispositions achieved in 1971 (the highest in history), and no new cases were filed, it would require approximately one month for the district court to dispose of its pending cases. Under the same conditions, it would require six months for the superior court to clean up its dockets. In other words, the present number of cases pending in the district court represents 8.6% of the total number of dispositions in 1971, whereas the same figure for the superior court is 50.9%.

Obviously, the state of the district court dockets is good when compared to the superior court. But the comparison is not necessary to the conclusion that the district court is able to stay reasonably abreast of its dockets. There is no standard that measures what is a "normal" or "proper" number of cases that should be in process at any one period in time, but 80,906 does not appear unreasonable in the face of a case flow approaching one million.

* The data in all columns but the last indicates the total number of offenses alleged to have been committed and conditions alleged to have existed during the year. This data does not indicate the actual number of children before the court, since one petition may include several offenses or conditions and more than one petition may have been filed against a child during the year.

The last column, entitled "Children Before Court for First Time", is included here for convenience of format, but it is not otherwise related to the data in the other columns. This column does indicate the actual number of children in all categories of jurisdiction who were before the court for the first time during 1971.

* This table indicates the total number of adjudicatory hearings held in each category of juvenile jurisdiction during the year. Juvenile petitions may be dismissed either for failure to prove that the child is delinquent, undisciplined, dependent or neglected or, if he is found to be so, because the child is not in need of the care, protection or discipline of the State. All cases dismissed for either of these reasons are counted in the "dismissed" column; all other cases are counted in the "retained" column.

1. In some counties, the per cent of cases disposed of exceeds one hundred per cent because cases pending on January 1, 1971 are not included in the "filed" column. The figures in both the "filed" and "disposed of" columns are for the calendar year 1971. Some of the cases filed in 1971 will not be disposed of until 1972 and some of the cases disposed of in 1971 were filed in 1970. Assuming a fairly constant rate of filing and disposition, the percentages are relatively accurate.

* These two tables are combined for convenience of format; they are not otherwise related.

1. In some counties, the per cent of cases disposed of exceeds one hundred per cent because cases pending on January 1, 1971 are not included in the "filed" column. The figures in both the "filed" and "disposed of" columns are for the calendar year 1971. Some of the cases filed in 1971 will not be disposed of until 1972 and some of the cases disposed of in 1971 were filed in 1970. Assuming a fairly constant rate of filing and disposition, the percentages are relatively accurate.

FISCAL OPERATIONS

1970 - 71

The district court system operated in 83 counties from July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1971, and in 17 counties from December 7, 1970 to June 30, 1971. With the addition of 17 new counties, both receipts and expenditures increased substantially over the previous fiscal year. The ratio of receipts to expenditures remained approximately the same, with total receipts from court operations exceeding State expenditures by more than one million dollars.

State Expenditures for the Judicial Department	$22,057,741.52
State and Local Receipts from Court Operations	$23,332,388.59

Distribution of Receipts by type and unit of government receiving funds:

Superior and District Court Fees (State)	$ 7,324,567.41
Supreme Court Fees (State)	5,113.75
Court of Appeals Fees (State)	13,407.80
Sale of Reports (State)	36,697.08
Law Enforcement Officers Benefit and Retirement Fund (State)	1,949,757.25
 Total State Revenues	 $ 9,329,543.29
Facilities Fees (Counties)	1,751,255.91
Officer Fees (Counties)	922,278.62
Jail Fees (Counties)	410,635.10
Fines and Forfeitures (Counties)	10,163,064.49

Facilities Fees (Municipalities)	120,741.25
Officer Fees (Municipalities)	571,240.33
Jail Fees (Municipalities)	63,629.60
 Total Municipal Revenues	 $ 755,611.18

Of total court receipts, 31.6% or $7,379,786.04 went into the State General Fund. The balance was distributed to the Law Enforcement Officers Benefit and Retirement Fund (8.4%) and the counties (56.7%) and municipalities (3.3%) of the State.

Receipts deposited in the State's general fund amounted to 33.5% of the State's expenditures for the Judicial Department. Total State receipts (both general fund and LEOB&RF) equaled 42.3% of Judicial Department expenditures.

The table which follows gives a county by county breakdown of fees distributed to each county and the municipalities within that county.

REPRESENTATION OF INDIGENTS

Private counsel are appointed to represent indigent defendants in twenty-eight of the State's judicial districts. In the 12th and 18th judicial districts (Cumberland, Hoke, and Guilford counties) indigents are normally represented by the public defender's office. Although the rules governing entitlement to counsel were the same during the 1969-70 and 1970-71 fiscal years, the costs of the program increased from $1,171,933.54 to $1,626,335.38 or 38.8%. This program constituted 7.4% of total Judicial Department expenditures in 1970-71. The costs of the program in 1970-71 are summarized as follows:

Assigned Counsel in Criminal Cases	$1,341,722.86
Assigned Counsel in Juvenile Cases	63,690.53	$1,405,413.39
Public Defender's Office in 12th Judicial District	61,366.98
Public Defender's Office in 18th Judicial District	80,845.23	142,212.21
Transcripts, Records and Briefs	77,344.78
Expert Witness Fees	1,365.00
TOTAL		$1,626,355.38

The table at the end of this section compares the assigned counsel program in 1969-70 and 1970-71. The number of cases assigned rose from 7,426 to 9,179 or 23.6% and expenditures rose from $1,055,818 to $1,405,413 or 33.1%.

Court appearances represent only a part of the activity of the public defenders, but the numbers do reflect the high level of activity in both of these offices:

1971 Court Appearances

	12th District	18th Disrtict
District Court	634	649
Superior Court	322	438
Appellate Courts	10	17

The total cost of providing counsel to indigents in the two districts with public defenders was as follows:

	12th District	18th District
Public Defender	$61,366.98	$ 80,845.23
Assigned Counsel	18,470.00	20,280.00
	$79,836.98	$101,125.23

It is instructive to compare these costs with the costs of the program in other urban areas: 10th District (Wake) $87,250.60, 14th District (Durham) $92,182.00, 21st District (Forsyth) $64,369.13, and 26th District (Mecklenburg) $174,807.56.

When private counsel or the public defender is assigned to represent an indigent, the court sets the money value of services rendered and enters judgment against the defendant for such amount. Receipts from payments on these judgments rose from $26,414.88 in 1969-70 to $37,692.73 in 1970-71. Receipts in 1970-71 amounted to 2.3% of the total cost of the indigent defendant program.
